A 3-day international conference with a special guided tour of the city and a boat trip, followed by a conference dinner. The conference venue is the University of Gdansk, located just outside the historic city centre.

The New Zealand Studies Association (NZSA) has a long and strong history in promoting New Zealand Studies. This event builds on the success of the 2006 conference in Paris, the 2008 conference in Florence, and the 2009 conference in Frankfurt.

Proposals for 20 minute papers must be sent by 1 May to Ian Conrich (email: ian@ianconrich.co.uk) or Marcin Waldoch (marcin.waldoch@gmail.com). The conference will consider all papers that address issues related to New Zealand and Europe. It will also consider papers on Maori identity and the Pacific.

A formal call for papers addressing specific subjects is available by email.
